The award is open to any UNC Greensboro undergraduate students who are enrolled in Spring 2022 courses during Summer 1 or Summer 2. Students with a range of research experiences and interests are encouraged to apply. The Fellow will receive a $3000 stipend to support their research over 10 weeks in Summer 1 and 2. The Fellow does not need to be enrolled in any specific classes or courses to qualify for the fellowship.

The WILL Empower Apprenticeship Program is a multipronged initiative designed to nurture, train, and pay a new generation of women's labor leadership. Apprentices benefit from a formal mentorship program with both faculty and staff in the University Libraries and the nonprofit coalition, 9 to 5: PROFESSIONALS UNITE. Apprentices may work in a variety of capacities, including organizing, research, communications, public relations, and representation. The WILL Empower Apprenticeship Program starts at $18 an hour.

WILL Empower is now recruiting the next generation of activists and apprenticeship host sites in any city in the USA. Apprentices engage in paid, hands-on, and politics, mobilization, and policy. Apprentices benefit from a formal mentorship program with both faculty and staff in the University Libraries on developing, creating, and disseminating research, scholarship, and/or creative works that make use of the resources, collections, and expertise found in the University Libraries.

Students interested in academic research with an opportunity to partner with faculty and staff in the University Libraries on developing, creating, and disseminating research, scholarship, and/or creative works are encouraged to apply. Click here to learn more!

International summer opportunities, internships, scholarships, Course Offerings, and other opportunities!

You can use this link to join any virtual advising session:

https://go.uncg.edu/igsadvisezoom

You can also find it on the canvas page. For more on advising, see below!

Advising is here! If you have not self-registered for IGS_Advise, the canvas page we use for communicating everything related to advising, please do so! The link is below. We will send out the weekly advising schedule by email and make it available in this newsletter. You can also find it on the canvas page. For more on upcoming events all related to the ongoing Russian invasion of Ukraine, see below!

To schedule a meeting with Dr. Qadir, click here:

https://go.uncg.edu/igsadvisecanvas

If not, please do so using this link:

ylmatlos@uncg.edu, visit our website, or contact: Assistant Director Will Zang (wwzang@uncg.edu)

Invasion of Ukraine

In this newsletter, we will explore the following.

From assaults on our democracy and reproductive rights to police violence and mental health struggles, how can Women's and Gender Studies (WGS) perspectives help us navigate these issues?

Women's and Gender Studies (WGS) perspectives contribute to the understanding of the present conflicts.

Join a roundtable of three WGS practitioners as they offer reflections on feminist approaches to the present conflict.

Teachers of Russian

Resources from the American Council of Teachers of Russian

Register here for access to an exhaustive list of resources for teaching about the present conflict.

Karin Sullivan- Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary, Bureau of Global Talent Management
Jameela Raja Akbari- Director of the Office of Accessibility and Accommodations

Panel event hosted by the US State Department featuring:

March 24, 6pm, virtual
Women in Foreign Policy

What can you do?

Click here for a list of actions you can take.

This list is curated by Razom for Ukraine.

Have you self-registered for IGS_Advise, the canvas page where we post everything related to advising, see below!?